

1A highlights of the year 2013

Our Superhero School day

Year one was so lucky because they had a day where they went to a superhero school. There was a lot of excitement going on as the children had to complete a range of tasks to become superheroes. One of the tasks was to find the clues and break the number code. During this activity, the children had a great opportunity to co-operate with each other, which they did.

After breaking the code, the children ran off to save Molly from the climbing frame. This time they had to do it by themselves so there was a lot of competition to be the saver of Molly. Eventually, Kevin saved Molly and everybody cheered, HOORAY!!

Ascari "It was fantastic! We got to climb the wall and save Molly."

Sana "I enjoyed saving Molly, because I like her so much!"

Our class assembly – Community

We had a class assembly based on community and diversity. We read a book called, 'The Big Orange Splot' and had lots of fun acting it out. It wasn't just the acting we learnt, but more importantly, it was the message from the story: 'Our street is us and we are it. Our street is where we like to be and it looks like all our dreams.' We think, being different is wonderful and we learn a lot from each other.

At the end of the assembly, we all sang and some of us danced with groovy moves!

Ayla "I liked the dancing because it was fun to learn the moves."

Mohammed "I enjoyed being the seagull because I like to fly."

Science- Pushes and Pulls

Our last topic in science this year was 'pushes and pulls'. We knew what a push and pull was but, we didn't actually know how much of it we use in our everyday life. So, we went out to investigate all the different ways where we use a push, pull or both.

As a class, we had lots of fun investigating all the different movements. It was interesting to find out that we could do a lot with our bodies. For instance, you could push and pull just by using your breath!

1I's Highlights of the Year.

When we thought about our highlights of the year we came up with lots of different ideas so here are just a few!

The Very Healthy Hungry caterpillar Breakfast.

As part of our Healthy Highfield theme, 1I had breakfast at school. It was great fun as some of us dressed up as butterflies and ate our breakfast together. In her report about the event Anastasia wrote, "On Friday I was happy and excited. I had crunchy fruit and yoghurt." Zilan wrote, "My favourite part was eating yoghurt and cold milk." Everyone agreed it was great fun. We even watched the animated version of the Very Hungry Caterpillar.

Our class assembly

Our class assembly was based on the story Handa's Surprise and it was one of Shania's highlights of the year. Selina made an excellent Handa and Isabella was a great Akeyo. We were very proud of our performance. Antoni played the drums. He thought it was, "Cool!" We sang a song from South America called Bate Bate Chocolate. We sang it very loudly at the end of the performance!

Snow day!

Another one of our favourite days was playing in the snow in January. We went outside and drew pictures in the snow. Oliver drew a funny picture of himself. Ryan said, "It was fun going around and around with a stick in the snow." Sultan and Anastasia made snowballs. Sultan said, "My hands felt cold but I had a nice time."
