

.... the fish can see the white and light blue colours of coral and shells, and underwater sand.

Red coral bricks like a shiny fence with a golden front door and neat windows which let in the glittering light when the sun shines through water.